Nutramin® Premium Powdered Minerals Overview

Nutramin is a natural, premium-grade mineral supplement for animals and pets. It comes from a rare earth, ultra-clean clay-mineral source in the Southwestern United States and extracted from a pristine, arid subsurface mine along the Colorado River delta. This compound is part of a unique mineral “species” called Calcium Montmorillonite that is found in ion active, high-quality condition in only a few places on earth.

Our premium mineral compound for pets is called Nutramin, which is a special composite of Calcium Montmorillonite. ION-MIN® is our Mother brand name for the different Montmorillonites with naturally occurring bio-available colloidal minerals that meet or exceed our rigid quality standards.

What makes our compound superior is the purity of the source material, the extreme fineness of the nano-sized colloids, the powerful negative ionic charge, the enormous surface area, a natural high PH level, the abundance of silica, and a balanced portfolio of health-providing minerals in their natural form, that are ready to remove toxins from your animal’s body and provide essential mineral nutrients.

Unique Source

The mineral ingredient, Nutramin does two important things simultaneously. First it acts as a powerful, natural detoxification agent in several environments: inside the animal’s body. Secondly, it enriches its surroundings with a unique balance of macro-micro and trace minerals that are electrically exchanged with the positively charged particles that diminish the health of animals.

Nutramin will additionally add mineralizes by chelating minerals for toxins such as certain heavy metals, and pathogenic agents that diminish good health by taxing the animal immune system and causing premature aging. Plus it contains one special mineral called silica within its natural state. Silica is used by the bodies of all animals—whether herbivores or carnivores, to metabolize other minerals such as calcium and cellular structures such as collagen.

Like most people in the US and other industrialized countries, our animals do not get enough silica in their modern diets. Nutramin contains 55% natural, extremely- fine-particle (colloidal) silica with an abundance of other mineral nutrients.

Nutramin is made from premium Calcium Montmorillonite that is ION-MIN® quality.

Wild Health

When animals in the wild are sick, they possess the seemingly universal ability to seek treatment from the “healing clays”, along river banks, in caves, exposed surface deposits, “Mineral licks”, glaciers, or runoffs. They have an advantage over humans in that they instinctively sense how certain healing minerals can detoxify and mend their bodies.

They do not understand why they need minerals from these special pure clays, they know instinctively where to find it, and when to ingest it. They eat the minerals directly from clean, clay deposits because they simply cannot get the therapeutic quantities needed by simply eating botanicals.

The nutrition deficiency problem is even worse for domesticated and farm animals in part because of the depletion of minerals in our soils. The right combination of minerals is simply unavailable in the food chain; and this impacts people too.

CALIFORNIA EARTH MINERALS

At California Earth Minerals, we believe this is a lesson for everyone. Pets can not choose their foods and supplements. We must do it for them. We owe it to the animals and to ourselves to make sure they are healthy. Like people, animals also need regular bio-available mineral supplements in an active form to keep their bodies strong by providing a daily mineral boost from a clean, potent, premium edible living clay, you provide “the ultimate daily health supplement.”

Animal Self-Healing

Wild animals have another advantage...as part of a natural, free-ranging habitat their mental and biological stress levels are lower, and their food chain is enriched. But domesticated animals live mainly in man-made structures in places where they are exposed to toxins, poisons. Pets eat highly processed foods, and farm animals are often fed grains from depleted soils. Their food supply is mixed with preservatives, insecticides, pesticides, herbicides, fungicides, chemical fertilizers, and synthetic hormones.

However, among the most damaging of all assaults on their bodies is stress. This is one reason wild animals are rarely sick, and are better able to heal themselves when they do become ill. Caged and domesticated animals are more disease-prone and experience shorter lives; they share many debilitating diseases with humans.

If we are to be truly responsible custodians of our animal friends it is critical that we begin to understand the root causes of their increasingly at-risk health status. We need to bring the “edible clay banks” of pure, uncontaminated minerals to them. At CEM we produce an amazing mineral supplement in active ionic state to revitalize and help maintain optimal health of your animals.

The Nutramin Solution

Nutramin provides a safe, convenient way to eliminate stored toxins from your animal’s body and at the same time supply it with needed macro, micro and trace minerals in their most natural and original form. This amazing product provides the stabilizing, regenerative agent that more and more people are giving to their pets and farm animals every day to keep them healthy and happy.

Calcium Montmorillonite is safe, effective and economical. Its health-giving effects come in two phases. The first is a fast-acting stage, immediately after eating it. The compound attracts and adheres to toxic and bacterial substances that attack and weaken your animal’s body.

The material acts like a magnet to draw in stubborn microbes and toxins that need to be eliminated. Malicious agents are absorbed and removed naturally, and sick animals will feel better in hours or days. Second is a long-term effect. Taken regularly and in measured portions, it continues to remove heavy metals and toxins that are attached to the stomach lining, colon, and other organs to maintain a healthy balance of good bacteria. At the same time, it continually feeds the body and blood stream with minerals needed for healthy body function. The long term effects are more subtle, but in many ways more profound.

Because it contains the exclusive trademarked premium montmorillonite clay, Nutramin provides the optimal particle size of montmorillonite available, and contains a highly bio- available mix of colloidal, active minerals

The Study, conducted by Dr. Benjamin Ershoff in concert with Cal-Tech University. NASA's manned space center worked with our products to determine how to resolve the rapid osteoporosis that astronauts encounter in extended zero-gravity space flights. Their study includes comprehensive clinical and laboratory tests on animals to show the growth promoting properties of our clay and how bone growth and density are positively affected by it. Their studies proved that consuming ION-MIN provided a significant growth advantage going to the animals that were given ION-MIN and they actually increased bone density. ION-MIN was shown to catalyze the body to stimulate healthy bone mass retention and tissue strength.

Balanced Source

Safe and Economical

Nutramin is all natural, non-allergenic, non-toxic, and safe to consume. Its elements do not accumulate in the body of any animal. In fact it will immediately begin to adsorb and absorb toxins that do not belong in the body.

There are no known adverse feed interactions with this product. There are no known side effects, and the product does not create physiological dependency when taken regularly for long periods of time.

Just as with water-soluble vitamins and minerals in feed, an animal's body will use what it needs and discard the rest. The amount and frequency of consumption depends on animal's body weight and the level of health you are trying to achieve. Nutramin can be mixed with feed, put in water, and provided in a "salt lick" form.

Because it can absorb positively charged pharmaceuticals, if your pet or animal is being given medications, you should consult a veterinary practitioner before providing Nutramin
